Famous Orchestra In City Three Days

For three days, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Panhandle citizens will have an opportunity to hear one of the most popular bands in the nation.

The band is the "Harlem Aristocrats," led by Duke Ellington. It will appear at the Paramount Theater at matinees and evenings.

Monday night dance lovers of the Panhandle may sway to the band's rhythmic tunes at the Nat Dance Palace.

Radio fans have heard the famous band for years. Now is an opportunity to see as well as hear it.

In addition to the band will be several noted entertainers, including Ivis Anderson, blues singer who sings songs as only negroes can sing them, and Bailey and Darby, a negro dance team that is a sensation wherever it appears.
