Heart Balm Suits To Be Outlawed In State

Breach Of Promise Cases To Be Made Illegal By Legislative Action.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 28.—(UP)—With four bills before the general assembly today to outlaw breach-of-promise suits, Pennsylvania legislators appeared determined to abolish the "heart-balm racket."

Co-sponsor of one of the proposals is Rep. Anna Brancato, Philadelphia, one of Pennsylvania's two women legislators. She and Rep. Patrick Condon, Philadelphia, introduced the most recent bill to make it illegal for any person to file a damage suit charging failure to carry out a promise to marry.

Condon also is author of a bill to limit the damages recoverable in such suits. It rests with House Judiciary general committee.

Other legislative opponents of the "heart-balm racket" are Representatives Ralph S. Cookrey, Erie, and Charles B. Cokerly, Northampton.

McCready's bill stipulates it is designed "to promote public morals by abolishing civil causes of action for alienation of affections, criminal conversation and breach of promise to marry."

Each day five persons are selected for their opinions on a question of the day.

QUESTION

"What would you do if you won $250,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes?"

Miss Gene Thompson, Morgantown street.

"First I would draw a long breath, then stick a pin in my arm to be sure I was not dreaming. Then I would go where I wanted, stay as long as I wanted and do what I wanted. What else is there?"

Miss Ida Sedgwick, Walnut street.

"I would travel around the world and see everything I have always wanted to see. What was left of it money I would invest to make me an income for life."

Harold Younkis, Central drug store.

"I would go home and go to bed and not get up until I would call up Mr. Cook and get a yard of tickets and go places and do things I could not do with the money I would have."

Carl Bryan, News Standard.

"I would sock away $10,000 in liberty bonds which would give me an income plenty big for life. Then I would take the $50,000 and start traveling around the world. When traveling I would settle down in the best spot I could discover."

When Hitler Met Britons in Historic Conference

Three men in whose hands the fate of Europe may largely rest are shown here in conference in the Berlin chancellery, seeking an answer to the grave problem that besets Europe in the face of German rearmament. Left to right, Adolf Hitler, der Fuehrer of the Fatherland; Sir John Simon, British foreign minister; and Capt. Anthony Egton, lord privy seal of Great Britain. The photo was transmitted by radio to New York. Optimistic reports of progress for future accord came from the party.

Look, Charlie! It's 'The Kid'!

Just look who's here! Jackie Cooper, famous baby hero of "The Kid," has paid a surprise visit to Charlie Chaplin, his mentor. He gave the great comedian even more of a surprise when Jackie picked him up as easily as Charlie used to carry the boy 15 years ago.

Deaths

WILBUR WATSON
Wilbur Watson, prominent oil magnate and superintendent of the Charters Oil company for 21 years, died suddenly at his Uniontown home at 142 North Main street at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 27, 1935. He appeared to be in the usual health and earlier in the day worked around the yard, being stricken with cerebral hemorrhage, shortly after lunch.

Deceased was born April 13, 1874, at Uniontown, the son of Samuel and Mary Shute Watson, pioneers in the oil business in the region all about Uniontown. His family came to Washington, Pa., with the beginning of the oil development. Mr. Watson married Elizabeth Anderson of Clay City, Pa. March 22, 1892, and last Friday they quietly celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary. There were no children.

Mr. Watson was superintendent and production manager in oil fields the greater part of his life. He took an active part in oil development in various states and was superintendent of the Charters Oil company for 21 years. For the past 11 years, he has been a resident of Uniontown. Three weeks ago yesterday he and his wife went to Washington, Pa., to care for Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Anderson, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Watson, both of whom are ill at their home, 450 Allison avenue, Washington.

Surviving are the widow, Kate Anderson Watson, one sister, Mrs. Guy Patterson of Washington and one brother, Ralph Watson of Uniontown. He was a member of Ashbury M. E. church, this city; of the Masonic fraternity, Hazleton; Blue Lodge 464, Easton, Texas; the Consistory at Dallas, Texas; and Hells Temple at Dallas, Texas.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 o'clock in the W. B. Main street, Washington, Pa. Burial will be in the Washington cemetery.

YOU CAN'T TURN UP YOUR NOSE AT THIS

WHAT you will do is open your eyes. For suits and dresses come back from a Zoric dry cleaning not only without a trace of odor... but also without the tiniest trace of that dulling dirt. For when the magic Zoric fluid surges through the fabric, it routs out the deepest-rooted dirt, takes the dinginess and droopiness along with it. Try Zoric and see. Your suits and dresses will come back revived. With new luster. With nap peaked up. With that first-day look and feel. And you can't turn up your nose at that, either.
