

FAMOUS COLORED ORCHESTRA IS IN BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

While passing through this section Saturday afternoon, en route to San Antonio and Corpus Christi to fill engagements, the famous colored orchestra known as Duke Ellington's Orchestra happened to a bad accident while on the highway between Borden and this city. A tire blew out and one of the cars used by the orchestra was wrecked rather badly. One of the musicians was rather badly cut by flying glass and had to be brought to town for medical attention. A local physician sewed him up, but the delay of the party forced a cancellation of their Saturday night engagement.