DRIVE TO PUT MEN TO WORK IN STATE STARTS MONDAY

Missouri Apparently Is Assured of $150,000,000 With Which To Do the Job.

145,000 FAMILIES ON RELIEF Matthew Murray Will Start Machinery In Operation At Jefferson City Monday.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 22 (UP)—The drive to take men out of relief and get them to work is scheduled to get underway here Monday with the state of Missouri apparently assured of $150,000,000 with which to do the job.

The office of Wallace Crossley, state relief administrator, reported today that with 149,000 families listed on the May relief rolls, approximately half were working Monday with the state of Missouri apparently assured of $150,000,000 with which to do the job.

Grants for each state were determined by multiplying the number of relief by $1.143, the amount appropriated for each unemployed person. Allowing January for unemployment persons, authorities believe that $149,000 is the minimum number which they hope to transfer from direct relief to the public works program.

Enthusiastic Crowd Grooms First Children's Theatre Production

A crowd enthusiastic over the possibilities of the Children's Theatre saw a presentation of "The Sleeping Beauty" at the city hall auditorium last night. The play was the first to be staged by the theater, which is under the direction of Kate Hanson Cornue.

In a conversational prologue to the play, Mrs. Cornue outlined the aims of the new group. Development of the children into individuals interested in acting, singing, dancing and the other arts of the theater and provision for outlet of latent talents she mentioned as the first objectives. At a long-time objective she suggested that some day the group might grow in popularity and proportion until it could erect a building of its own.

Those who saw the play, acted by children of four to fourteen years, were pleased by the ease and grace with which the children depicted themselves on a stage. Almost perfect in lines and showing a grasp of the fundamentals of speech and action, the children went steadily ahead with the story of the old children's romance and their life-like characterizations.

RULING ON THE OLD AGE PENSION AND BAND, COMING

Members of County Indefinite Are Eligible to Pension, Attorney General's Office Rules.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 22 (UP)—Elimination eventually of one of Missouri's old institutions, the county poor farm, was brought nearer today by an opinion from the attorney general's office.

Assistant Attorney General Oliver W. Nolen, in a letter to W. E. Jameson, president of the eugenics board of managers, said that inmates of county infirmaries are not barred from the benefits of the state's old age pension law that will become effective late in August.

Nolen wrote that it apparently is the only one of its kind in the world. It consists of a three-trumpet and three trombone band. Four artists comprise the set section. Piano is tickled by the Duke and the rhythmic department is completed with a bass fiddle, banjo and drums.

A New Type Corn Defies Chinch Bugs

Field Test Last Year Showed Chinch Bug Resistant Hybrids Yielded 46.3 Bu. an Acre.

WASHINGTON (UP)—It's going to be a tough proposition for chinch bugs to get a new strain of hybrid corn developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The new hybrids are highly resistant to the bugs and also are high in yield and quality. Compared with 35.4 bushels for hybrids susceptible to the bugs, the new hybrids yielded 46.3 bushels an acre.

Although well constructed and maintained barriers stop the first brood of bugs from advancing out of small grain into corn, the Agriculture Department said, there are no known measures for preventing adult bugs of the first brood from flying into cornfields and depositing their eggs from which the second brood of insects feeds on the corn until it matures or is killed.

Development and use of corn highly resistant to second brood bugs, along with erection of barriers, is believed to be the most practical and effective method to guard against tremendous losses to individual growers.

Work of J. R. Turner Praised By M. W. A. Publication. "The Field," M. W. A. official paper, in its latest issue carried a long article in which it paid tribute to the work of S. C. Turner of this city, district manager.

JUVENILE CRIME WILL BE TOPIC OF WORLD CONGRESS

Fifteen Countries Will Be Represented at Conference To Be Held In Brussels.

UNITED STATES IS INCLUDED Judges and Magistrates Who Preside Over Juvenile Courts Will Be In Attendance.

BRUSSELS, June 22 (UP)—Twenty international conferences of outstanding interest to students of child-welfare throughout the world are scheduled here between July 15 and 21.

It is expected that chief interest at this conference will be focused on the effects of economic distress on criminally among children. Another eagerly awaited paper will be that of M. W. Woytowicz, Grahnska of Poland, the first woman appointed as judge in juvenile courts in Poland. She is now judicial counselor at the Polish Ministry of Social Assistance, and a recognized authority on criminality among children.

At least 20 countries will be represented at the conference of the International Association for the Protection of Minors, which was first organized in Brussels in 1921. Several South American and most European countries are members of the association.

DUKE ELLINGTON AND BAND, COMING

This Inimitable Dance Orchestra Will Be Attraction at Windmoor Gardens Monday Night.

Duke Ellington and his band are coming to Chillicothe. This inimitable dance orchestra will appear at Windmoor Gardens Monday night, July 1, and is probably the highest priced band that has ever appeared in this vicinity.

There are many colored orchestras in America, but none that can compare favorably with this one, which gained popularity at New York's Cotton Club in Harlem.

Ellington's present combination is composed of fourteen men and the set-up is the only one of its kind in the world. It consists of a three-trumpet and three trombone band. Four artists comprise the set section. Piano is tickled by the Duke and the rhythmic department is completed with a bass fiddle, banjo and drums.

Ellington at his best is a refined interpreter of hot jazz, representing the finest orchestra in his kind in the world. No other band can boast of the originality and versatility of this organization. The repertoire of this orchestra is more distinctive and varied than that of any other band in the field. Every number played is a special arrangement by Ellington in collaboration with other members of the band.

Chillicotheans are indeed fortunate at having an opportunity to hear and dance to an orchestra like Ellington's. Advance tickets are being sold at Clark's Pharmacy and Windmoor Gardens.

NEW NRA LEGISLATION TO BE ASKED OF PRESENT SESSION

Will Press the TVA Compromise Bill

A Vote Is Expected to Be Taken Next Week by the House, It Is Said.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (UP)—Administration leaders after months of maneuvering, emerged today with President Roosevelt's utility program considerably battered by compromises.

House leaders planned to press the TVA compromise bill toward a vote next week. It will be followed by the Wheeler-Ryburn utility holding company control bill due to be reported out of committee later today.

A month's bitter battling in committee was ended when by a one vote margin the house military affairs committee reported out a compromise bill.

Hearing Argument in Insurance Case

Attorneys For 137 Insurance Companies Argued Case in Kansas City Today.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22 (UP)—Arguments on a motion for a court order permitting distribution of approximately $11,000,000 in impounded fire insurance premiums under terms outlined in a compromise agreement, were being heard here today.

Judge Kimbrough Stone of United States circuit court of appeals, Judge Merrill E. Otis and Judge Albert L. Reeves of the federal district court, heard arguments of attorneys for 137 insurance companies.

An intervening petition in the case was filed today by policy holders opposing the proposed settlement and distribution of impounded money in terms outlined by compromise by R. Emmett O'Malley, state insurance commissioner.

Government to Aid of New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, June 22 (UP)—The federal government is planning to aid the city of New Orleans to prevent the New Orleans municipal government from falling into the hands of Sen. Huey P. Long, indomitable enemies of the Roosevelt administration.

The federal emergency relief act, which provides for the establishment of municipal government, has been passed by Congress. The act provides for the establishment of municipal government, has been passed by Congress.

The congress will be opened at 10 a. m. on July 18 by Queen Astrid. On the following day the delegates will take trips to the seaside and regional institutions. They will also visit the Brussels infant clinic, the colony for weak children at Dornpelen, in Brabant, the school for abnormal children at Rivensand, and the Henri Jaspard children's convalescent home at Tervuren, near Brussels.

The work of the conference will continue on the two succeeding days and will be wound up at a final meeting July 21. It is expected that there will be a reception for the delegates in the Brussels City Hall.

TO PARSONS, KANSAS

Smith and his daughter, Miss Penelope Smith, will leave this afternoon for Parsons, Kansas, where they will spend the week-end and will be accompanied home by Mrs. Smith, who has been a guest of friends there since Wednesday. Mrs. Smith had been a guest of her son, Howard B. Smith, at the home of a few weeks before going to Parsons. They will return home Monday.

GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY FAIL ON THREE POINTS

PLAN IS REVEALED SATURDAY

While Officials Refused to Discuss Plan, It Is a German-ent Set-up.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (UP)—New NRA legislation, strongly backed by industry, labor and the administration, will be asked of the present session of Congress according to an authoritative plan revealed today.

Although officials generally refused to discuss the specific legislative plans to continue benefits derived from NRA codes, authoritative sources described the method by which the three interests expect to collaborate for a more permanent recovery law.

The American Federation of Labor has near completion a proposal to regulate all interstate commerce industry through a federal licensing commission. Business leaders in the commerce department advisory council are drafting a widely divergent proposal.

Present strategy will take both groups to the White House probably next week to lay their plans before the president. If a compromise proposal on which all can agree is not worked out in conference, the president likely will ask each group to work separately toward an agreement and report back at the early date.

Since new legislation is the common objective, participants in the plan believe little ground will be gained and that President Roosevelt will give his approval and send the suggested law to Capitol Hill probably accompanied by a special message.

Leaders in the two groups believe a new law will be sent to Congress within 15 days. "It can be passed within three days," one spokesman said.

Plane Laying Out New Pacific Route

At a Speed of 137 Miles An Hour, the Giant 4-Motored Plane Hurtles Eastward.

ALAMEDA AIRPORT, Calif., June 22 (UP)—A giant four motored plane hurtled across the Pacific at an average of 137 miles an hour against head winds today in exploring a new route for Trans-Pacific commercial flying service.

Choosing a course paralleling that which the speedy clipper ship "Flying Dutchman" followed over the western coast, the Pan-American Airways orient clipper kept 300 miles north of the steamer lane in its fourth trans-oceanic flight.

The route the ship was blazing today was thousands of feet higher than it had followed in previous trips. Capt. Edwin C. Musick, pilot, kept his ship at an 18,000 foot altitude throughout the night.

Weather conditions were excellent. Head winds pushed against the plane, however.

At 7 a. m., eleven and a half hours after its take-off from Honolulu, it was 1,186 miles out of Pearl Harbor.

GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY FAIL ON THREE POINTS

Naval Negotiators In Three Days of Technical Discussion Fail to Agree.

A FINAL MEETING TODAY Exact Number of Ships Germany Intends to Build By 1942, One Main Point.

LONDON, June 22 (UP)—British and German naval negotiators in three days of technical discussion have failed to agree definitely on three main points, it was understood today.

The British-German agreement calls for a 35 to 1,000 ratio of strength for the German and British fleets. Technical points on which it was understood, the delegates have not agreed are:

- 1. The exact number of ships Germany intends to build by 1942. 2. The rate of construction of ships built. 3. The size of ships and guns.

It was reported that the Germans have accepted a limit of 25,000 tons and 12-inch guns for battleships and 7,000 tons and 6-inch guns for cruisers.

A final meeting of the experts was scheduled for 3 p. m. today. The Germans expected to go to Berlin Sunday, leaving further expert Great Britain and Germany.

PARIS, June 22 (UP)—Important Franco-British armament conversations ended today with an authoritative statement that they failed to find a basis of understanding because French resentment over the new deal agreement between Great Britain and Germany.

It was said, however, that the conclusion of talks between Capt. Anthony Eden of Britain and Premier Pierre Laval of France found the French statement prepared to "listen" to Eden when the young British diplomat returns from conversation with Premier Benito Mussolini at Rome. Eden expressed great satisfaction with his negotiations there.

The French, however, made it clear they do not desire new military aid on European security without consulting Italy.
