High School games. They draw crowds of 30,000, and play a brand of football as classy as any college team in the states. News from over here is all good, and we hope to be back to dear old Wisconsin. I wish I could tell you more how the American youth is carrying on in this war, and I want to say there isn't a better fighting man in the world than the fellows that come from the good old U. S. A. And if you don't believe me ask the Japs, they will tell you. The radio programs from the States, that get to us by short wave is really a good thing for the boys here.

Aloha, V.

Will you please tell me who does the voting in the A.P. grid poll and on what they base their calculations? When I saw the list of the first ten teams in today's paper I was disgusted to say the least.

For the life of me, I can't understand how Notre Dame should rate ahead of Wisconsin and Georgia Tech. But what made me really see red was to find twice-beaten Minnesota right up there with the first ten teams. Why, she shouldn't even rate a mention with the "also rans." In my opinion her spot should be filled by Tulsa.

Incidentally, what do the Badgers have to do to rate national recognition—beat the Chicago Bears?

Although I miss many things about Wisconsin, I can say without hesitation that I miss the Wisconsin football season the most. And what a team we've got this year! I've seen every home game for the past seven years, and not to be able to have that opportunity this season—why, it's tragic! Boy, the old heart climbs to the throat while waiting to get the Wisconsin score.

However, I have subscribed to The Wisconsin State Journal, and the inability to see Wisconsin play is greatly compensated by the "dope" I am able to obtain from your column.

Tom Farris, our great quarterback of last year, and myself are the only Wisconsin grads stationed at this base. Daily we have conference, rejoicing in the past week's victory and speculating on the next week's game. Tom is playing fullback with our own Coast Guard team whom you may have heard upset Villanova last week, and is undefeated to date.

You may not recall me by name, but I'm sure you'd remember me by face, since I've had many a chat with you.

Sincerely yours,
John von Rohr.

Just in case you have not seen this clipping I thought you might be very interested. It appeared in the Los Angeles Herald Express Oct. 20, 1942.

It would thrill any Badger and I hope it is well founded.

My very best to you,
"Turk" Mathison.

BADGERS IN FRONT

The Wisconsin Badgers of the Big Ten lead the parade for national grid honors under the Deke Houglate rating system. Close on their heels came two powerful aggregations—Georgia and Ohio State.

The standings (first fifteen) follow:

1—Wisconsin; 2—Georgia, Ohio State (tied); 4—North Carolina; 5—Georgetown; 6—Texas Christian; 7—Boston College, Santa Clara (tied); 9—Iowa Navy; 10—Army; 11—Georgia Navy; 12—Georgia Tech; 13—Michigan, William and Mary (tied); 15—Notre Dame.
