

Even in politics, the French would have us "look for the woman." In "Affairs of State," opening Wednesday night at the Civic theater, they wield a great deal of influence.

Racial Equality Pleaded

A strange mixture of religious faith and mood music, the musical pleads for equality regardless of creed or color against a background of racial prejudice in South Africa. It was first produced in New York in 1949.

Scenes Filmed Aboard Carrier

HOLLYWOOD—Republic launched one of its biggest productions of the year when cameras began turning aboard the giant U. S. navy flat-top, Kearsarge, as it plowed recently through Pacific seas toward Honolulu.

Aboard the big aircraft carrier were many of Hollywood's most notable male film stars, headed by Sterling Hayden and Dean Jagger, who, with Alexis Smith, have been announced as the starring triumvirate for "The Admiral Hoskins Story."

Hayden portrays the vigorous Rear Adm. John M. Hoskins, the famous "Peg-Leg Admiral" whose fabulous career has become a legend.

'Mister Roberts' On Warner Lot

HOLLYWOOD—"Mister Roberts" which is being produced by Leland Hayward as a CinemaScope production for Warner Bros., was the biggest dramatic grosser in the history of the New York theater. It earned more than $4,500,000 during its lengthy stage run.

Equally impressive is the list of stars who, at various times, have played the leading roles. They include Henry Fonda, Richard Carlson, David Wayne, John Forsythe, Robert Keith, William Hargis, Tyrone Power, Jackie Cooper, Tom Andrews, Robert Ross and Henry Hull.

Screen Villain Goes Straight

HOLLYWOOD—Raymond Burr one of the screen's most seasoned villains, has finally seen the light. In his latest film, RKO's "Passion," he follows the straight and narrow and portrays the chief of the constabulary.

Burr's movie career has been marked by a succession of roles stepped in villainy. "But now," Burr explains, "I've seen the light. I've reformed. My only problem is to get the audience to believe me as a 'good guy' and stop hissing every time I appear on the screen."

Costarring Yvonne De Carlo and Cornel Wilde, "Passion" was produced in Technicolor for RKO by Benedict Bogaus.

Douglas Tops Hit Play Cast

Melvyn Douglas, who will be starred in Ronald Alexander's hilarious new comedy, "Time Out for Ginger," when it is presented by Shepard Traube in Portland public auditorium Wednesday night, November 17, and Thursday matinee only, is one of the most popular leading men of stage, screen, radio and television.

In the theater, Douglas has, by turns, been an outstandingly successful actor, director and producer. It was he who directed Lillian Gish in the memorable production of Sean O'Casey's "Within the Gates," and who coproduced the highly successful musical revue, "Call Me Mister." As an actor, Broadway has seen him in recent years in "Two Blind Mice," "Little Blue Light," "The Bird Cage" and "Glad Tidings," which he also directed.
