

Sgt. Joe Friday Finally Gets to Kiss His Girl

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Hollywood
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Jack Webb, the hero of Pocatello who catches the criminal but never a girl, got his first screen kiss yesterday in the farcical "Racy, swift dialogue and a couple of pretty torrid love sequences."
 Only once did Webb introduce sex appeal into Drama. Sgt. Friday dated a girl friend on four programs. In one Webb gave her a good-night peck—and the mail-man arrived with bags of complaints.
 "75 per cent of the letters thought it was splendid but 50 per cent thought it was to let her sleep into Drama," Webb continued.
 "In 25 minutes you can't tell a love story, anyway, so we cut it out. It's had enough to resolve the mystery in that line."
 Drama draws about 1,500 letters a week and most of them are, curiously, from women, despite the sexless dialogue and Webb's emphasis on a police-father's instead of a mother's.
 "Why we get so many letters from women is as big a mystery as some of our plots," said Webb.
ENTER CANARY
 The actor, who also directing "Pete Kelly's Blues," then walked back to his set to guide himself through his first love scene in a movie (in earlier film roles he usually played a heavy). Webb made this scene more complicated by casting a pet canary named Fred to perch on his shoulder and honk fly away when Janet threw her arms around his neck.
 After eight tries, the canary finally made it.
 "We were both so nervous," Janet and later. "This is my first adult love scene, so I've always just had young tender ones before. Jack is just great! I don't think these women who write him will be disappointed."
 As I left the set, a box of flowers arrived for Janet from Webb with the card, "Fred sends his love."

Women Roast Rotary Club

It was an all-women's program at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club Thursday with the exception of the musical program. Wives of members were guests of honor, but not being satisfied with being only guests, they took over the meeting and conducted the program.
 Mrs. Mary Carol Mcintosh, wife of Rotary President Carl Mcintosh, presided and conducted the proceedings expeditiously. Guests were presented by Mrs. Hattie Fletcher and Mrs. Alton Terrell presented the Rotarians whose birthdays are celebrated in May.
 Mrs. Ming Downard led the singing of "Happy Birthdays" in the following Rotarians: Mrs. Joan Hill, Mrs. Elizabeth Hulvey, Mrs. Helen Kirkin, Mrs. Bonita Carney, Mrs. Jean Davis, Mrs. Kathleen Brennan, and Mrs. Sally Wells.
 Mrs. Brennan presented the Idaho State college mole quartet, members of which gave the musical program. Members are Roland Barker, Focally Taylor, Harry McCannan, Dean McDaniel, Sacramento, Calif., and Dick Robinson, Idaho Falls with Ruth McCannan, Twin Falls, as accompanist.
 Gordon Nelson of the Idaho Falls Rotary club announced that the club was sponsoring the Duke and Pocatello Rotarians to attend.
 Highlights of the meeting was a humorous report given by Mrs. Mcintosh on the "Morality and Discipline of the Rotary Club."
 The report, the work of a Rotary-an panel, was made after a recent report given by a member of the committee appointed to investigate disciplinary problems in the Pocatello High School. Substance of the report was that "moral conditions were nothing to write home about," and that too many day problems had been referred to Vice President E. Purnum Vaughn as a result of the frequent misadventure of President Mcintosh.

Duke to Play Host To U. S. Evangelist

LONDON (UP)—American evangelist Billy Graham will stay at the Elizabeth's official Scottish residence when he returns to Scotland for a brief visit the end of the month. It was learned yesterday.
 Graham will be guest of the Duke of Edinburgh at Balmoral House in Edinburgh when the evangelist goes north to address the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. The duke is lord high commissioner for Scotland.
 The exact date of Graham's two-day visit to Edinburgh has not yet been announced. The assembly will meet from May 24 to 25.

Lewiston Twins Get New Blood

LEWISTON (UP)—Identical twins were being taken to determine boys born Wednesday were reported to be identical. The hospital reported that the twins were "extremely rare."
 Mr. and Mrs. White have two other boys, but neither had the H-H factor which required blood transfusions.
 The tiny babies—Lanale and Lonnie White—had to have their entire blood supplies changed within hours after their birth because their blood had an H-H positive factor while their mother, Mrs. Floyd White, had an H-H negative blood.
 Lanale, who weighed only four pounds, one ounce at birth, underwent a second transfusion Friday. Lonnie, who weighed four pounds, 10 ounces at birth, did not require the second blood change.
 Attendants at St. Joseph's hospital, walk, however, blood counts.

Police Question Victim's Mother

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (UP)—Authorities tried yesterday to pierce the veil of mystery surrounding the death of a woman in a plunge from a speeding train by questioning her mother.
 A Cortlandville, N. Y., justice of the peace arraigned Mrs. Celia Prochman, 56, on charges of vagrancy and violation of a state anti-vagrancy law. She was found wandering aimlessly along a highway Friday several hours after the death of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Prochman, 24.
 State police also questioned the victim's husband, George Prochman, 28, a recently discharged Army corporal who returned to New York Friday night from Philadelphia where he had been doing graduate work in psychology.
 The finding of Mrs. Prochman's broken body along the New York Central railroad tracks just south of Peekskill eliminated a weird cross-country train ride during which conductors and porters reported that the two women wandered aimlessly backward and forward about the train opening outside doors.
 New York police said Mrs. Prochman had been confined to

MIGs Buzz Only For Identity

HAMSTEIN, Germany (UP)—The we had seen them and continued flying straight ahead.
 "They passed us at high speed then made a normal turn in front of us to read our number. One passed about 80 yards from us but was going so fast we couldn't see much of the pilot."
 "We didn't anticipate any trouble from them, and they didn't give us any," said Peter Morrison, James S. Morrison (210 Bartlett St.) Reno, Nev.
 "We were over the coast of Lofan Island about ten or 15 minutes from Kadirup Airfield on Thursday when we saw them high on our left approaching us slowly. I braked my wings to show that
