

FAMOUS BAND TUESDAY NIGHT

Duke Ellington To Play at Coliseum

One of the major events of the entertainment week is the personal appearance of Duke Ellington and his Cotton Club band at the Coliseum Tuesday night.

The company has played in several Indiana cities during the past three weeks and is being brought to Evansville by Warren Miller, who recently offered Wayne King at Green Lantern Gardens.

With Ellington's band is Ivy Anderson, who means the blues in a fashion in keeping with the type of rhythm played by Ellington's band.

Miss Anderson is said to be an accomplished dancer and altho not billed as such, might be prevailed upon to add a few terpsichorean numbers if properly encouraged.

Miller has received numerous requests that Ellington run the gamut of blues numbers, including his own "Black and Tan Fantasy," and "Mood Indigo."
